

The use of cellphones in an airplane as well as thier use in ANY public place and while driving a moving vehicle should be outlawed. In an airplane the already abysmal comfort conditions of tiny seats closely packed and the loud environment would be additionally negatively affected by cellphones. People shouting on their phones wich is common or even having a normal conversation will be very irritating and will make me and many others contemplate whether the advantages of air travel are worth the cost.